“While the decorating takes on an earthy Santa Fe influence, the room still manages to keep a sense of formality”

AMGAD KAMEL ARCHITECT

2 With a Santa Fe theme, this living room designed by Amgad Kamel (above) mixes leather, cowhide, rough ceramics and a raw wooden mantelpiece. While the room has a formal structure, the furnishings add a casual touch. The oval-backed chairs, carved mirror frame and candlesticks add visual interest. Colour-wise, soft warm neutrals were used, allowing the outdoor space to remain the focal point.
